

Hello and welcome,

My name is Lori Samuels from Silicon Valley CIO. We provide engagement-based Technical & Cloud Program Management, including SaaS & mobile application development, complex AWS cloud migrations, technology transformation initiatives, platform architecture, and Agile coaching.

These days, progressive businesses are modernizing around new technologies including mobile apps, SaaS & cloud services, and infrastructure-as-a-service (IaaS). Process innovations are also changing the way software is developed, tested, and released using Agile methods, quality engineering, and automated deployment. Any business adopting new technologies and methods requires strategy-driven Technical Program Management to achieve business goals.

Many businesses are also exploring the benefits (and risks) of moving some or all of their technical infrastructure and assets to the Cloud. You can leverage our Cloud Implementation & Migration experience to get it done right.

I love the work I do, and especially enjoy partnering with talented management and engineering teams. I'm passionate about helping teams execute their technology strategies to make business growth happen and delight customers.

To learn more about Silicon Valley CIO and my Technical & Cloud Program Management experience, please view my introduction letter:

[\[View my Introduction Letter ... \]](#)

I like to listen and learn from people who are passionate about their business dreams, ideas, challenges, and opportunities. I would enjoy further conversation with you and your colleagues to discuss your vision and business goals.

It would be my pleasure to have a conversation with you about your business:

Call (650) 488-4246 office

I look forward to speaking with you soon,

Thank you -- Lori

View my Introduction ...